Composite Description

The composite returns represent the total returns of all fully discretionary portfolios with a Lazard Enhanced Opportunities mandate and a minimum of $5.0 million in assets under management as of January 2016. Prior to then, the minimum to invest was $2.5 million in assets under management. Lazard Enhanced Opportunities is a hedged strategy, expressed through convertible securities, with the objective of current income, long-term capital appreciation, and lower volatility relative to broad equity markets. The strategy utilizes selective portfolio level and position level hedges to seek to minimize macro risk (both equity and credit) and interest rate risk. It is expected that the total gross exposure will typically range from 0% to 300% and that the net exposure will typically range from -25% (net short position) to 100%. As an example, if the Portfolio's long investment exposure is 100% and its short exposure is 75%, the strategy would have a net long exposure of 25%. Derivatives such as total return swaps, listed options, and futures will be routinely used to obtain leverage and to hedge. Additionally, shorting of exchange traded funds (ETFs) and equities will be used to hedge.
